Fire In Drug Store Sunday Night Mystery Surrounds The Death Of El Verano Young Man Sonoma Cowboys To Ride In International Show In England

GOAT GLANDS ARE BLAMED FOR TRAGEDY

John Merton, Twenty-Six Year Old Resident of Valley Dies Mysteriously At San Rafael Hospital.

John Merton, a young man who had been residing at Sonoma Vista for the past six months with his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Waldo, was taken mysteriously ill last week and died Monday at the General Hospital, San Rafael. He is said to have gone blind and suffered a nervous attack which physicians are reported to have attributed to the administration of goat gland fluid under circumstances which are being probed. Relatives and friends of Merton scout the goat gland story which they claim was all newspaper talk and had its origin in a josh remark made by Merton that they had killed and eaten a young goat at the ranch and had perhaps got too much goat gland extract in his system. Others who saw deceased when he was taken to the hospital declare that Merton and his companions got hold of poisonous moonshine and it was over-indulgence in this that caused the young man's illness and untimely death. He was not a drinking man, nor were any of the party of the fatal orgy addicted to drink, but this is believed to have been the reason why the quality of the stuff was not detected.

Out of the hazy mystery which surrounds circumstances prior to Merton's death, the one fact has been ascertained that the young man was one who killed and ate the young goat, celebrating Easter Sunday in feasting and drinking. He was the only one of the party to suffer ill effects and members of his family thought his malady anything but fatal when he was taken to the hospital at San Rafael in which city he had been employed by the P. G. & E.

Deceased was engaged to be married to Miss Morenzoni, formerly of the Plaza Hotel here and his wedding was to have occurred in two weeks.

The funeral took place here Thursday under the auspices of the Odd Fellows. Merton was a native of Missouri and has brothers residing there.

YOUNG LOVERS WERE MARRIED THURSDAY

Miss Anita Camp, 18 years old, married her school-days sweetheart, 19 years old Allan McGimsey, at the Camp home in San Francisco Thursday evening.

The youthful couple immediately left for the South, where the groom holds a good position with the State Insurance Department.

McGimsey is the son of Milton McGimsey, of Branscombe, Mendocino county, and the fair bride is a daughter of well known residents of Buena Vista. Sonoma friends and former schoolmates will wish them great happiness.

The Flying Needles will meet at the home of Mrs. H. Hutton on Wednesday, May 7th.

Wild Flower Day At The Womans Club

The April social afternoon, postponed from Good Friday, took place Friday afternoon of last week. The program was under the leadership of Mrs. Carrie Burlingame, who presented the seasonal topic, "Wild Flowers" illustrating her talk with specimens of the many beautiful flowers of Sonoma Valley which she gathered on the floor of the valley, in canyons and on the hillsides. Mrs. Grinstead sang "I Know a Lovely Garden" and "For You Alone." Mrs. Luchsinger was gracious hostess of the afternoon.

MORE ORDERS PROVE INCUBATOR'S SUCCESS

Petaluma Man To Equip Hatcheries With Sonoma Incubator; Egg City Would Like to Capture Factory.

The demand for Kitchen egg turning trays continues to grow in Petaluma, with the demonstration hatch going on.

Max W. Poehlmann, who operates two large hatcheries in North Petaluma, is the latest to sign a contract for a large order of Sonoma's product. The Poehlmann hatchery is the fourth largest in Petaluma and a crew of men will be engaged a greater part of the summer remodeling the plant and installing the Kitchen device.

Mr. Poehlmann states that practically every commercial hatchery in the country will eventually use the turning device in order to compete with the ones that have it.

The Vestal Hatchery is contemplating the change at the present time.

Petaluma orders to date approximate $3600, and the work is under way at the Sonoma factory on Patton street.

J. M. Ogden, who is in charge of the demonstration hatch being conducted at the Perry Hatchery in the Egg City, says that visitors are increasing daily as the end of the hatch approaches. The continued approval of the Kitchen ventilating system by recognized authorities on incubators spells success.

Petaluma business interests are already making overtures to get the industry to locate there. If Sonoma Valley wants the assurance of keeping the factory here and eventually getting the big payroll which is bound to come with increased demand for this new invention local capital should come forward at once and back up the enterprise. All interested in seeing the incubator industry succeed in Sonoma are urged to communicate promptly with George Crowe. Mr. Crowe has facts and figures to show the splendid opportunity for ground floor investors. As a business proposition and a community boost the marvelous incubator invention is commended by all who know the widespread interest it has awakened among expert poultry men.

The Sonoma Dancing Club will give another social dance at Coney Island pavilion on Saturday night, May 10th. Good music will be provided and a fine time is assured all who attend.

Blind Fire of Unknown Origin Causes Excitement and Damages Stock

Last Sunday night as people were assembled at the moving picture theatre and churches, the cry of fire resounded on Sonoma's streets and the fire siren soon brought volunteer fire fighters to the corner of Napa and First street east when smoke was seen issuing from the rear of Lambert's drug store. Breaking in a side door, firemen were met by a sheet of flame which shot out accompanied by an incipient explosion. Other small explosions, evidently from chemicals occurred but when this part of the danger was overcome by the use of the chemical tanks on the fire engine, the fire seemed to have eaten its way between the walls of the Boccioni building and despite volumes of smoke which issued from the second floor, could not be located. Water and chemicals were finally poured in by firemen from the rear and from above and the fire was controlled with slight damage other than to the ceiling and stock on the mezzanine floor of the drug store.

Mr. Lambert had closed his place of business just a short time before the fire was detected by Mrs. Peter Boccioni who lives in an adjoining portion of the building where the drug store is located. The owners are at a loss to understand the origin of the conflagration but it is believed that a worn insulation on electric wiring might have come in contact with some chemical stored on the mezzanine floor and started the blaze.

The volunteer fire department did excellent work in the face of more or less danger because of the chemicals and highly inflammable materials in the drug store. They showed good judgment in the use of water and as a result comparatively little damage was suffered and Mr. Lambert was enabled to open his store as usual on Monday morning. The drug store was insured for eight thousand dollars. The damage from the fire was estimated by the proprietor at about two thousand dollars.

DEATH OF YOUNG WIFE AND MOTHER

Mrs. Jack Meyer of Schellville Passes Away at Santa Rosa After Operation in Hospital There.

Mrs. "Jack" Meyer, wife of Jacob Meyer of Schellville, and mother of Jacob Meyer Jr., died suddenly at Santa Rosa early Tuesday morning following a capital operation. Mrs. Meyer had been ill, but never confined to her bed and underwent the operation to get relief from spells of sickness she suffered at intervals, believing that she would be better able then to enjoy the pretty new home recently built and into which the family was just preparing to move.

Mrs. Meyer's death was a great shock to family and friends and the funeral here Thursday was one of the saddest in many months. Impressive services were conducted by the Bear Flag Lodge, Daughters of Pocahontas at the Ben Meyer home in Schellville after which the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Francis church where funeral services were said by Rev. J. F. Byrne. Interment was in the Catholic Cemetery.

Mrs. Meyer was an exemplary wife and mother and had resided in Sonoma Valley for the past twelve years. She came here from Switzerland, her native land, when a young woman and with her husband had been employed at the Jones ranch. Through thrift and industry the couple prospered and recently decided to build a pretty home in which deceased had taken unusual pride just prior to her sad death. She was 32 years of age.

The President of the Rebekah Assembly of California visited Verdant degree lodge on April 24th. Mrs. Addie Burns, President and Grand Warden; Mrs. D. DuVander were the distinguished guests. A very enjoyable time was had. Miss Stella McGill Vice Noble Grand presided.

H. J. BINNEY FOUND GUILTY IN MONTANA

Obtained Money Under False Pretenses Jury Finds and Prison Sentence Is Recommended.

Harold "Josh" Binney, the moving picture promoter who came to Sonoma last November and leased the Coney Island pavilion for a photograph studio, and whose financial embarrassment subsequently led to his arrest for cashing a worthless check on a Sonoma bank has been convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses in Montana, where he operated before coming here.

The charge preferred by a local bank against Binney while in Sonoma was quashed after admirers had signed a note promising payment of the check cashed by the moving picture man.

Hardly before this incident had blown over, Binney's backers were astonished to find that he was again under arrest, this time on a warrant issued in Silver Bow county, Montana, where the fat comedian had promoted a production called "The Vigilantes." He fought extradition from California and the first warrant being defective, Binney was released at Sacramento, only to find himself confronted with a second warrant issued by another one of his many alleged victims in Butte. Deputy Sheriff Robinson of Montana was sent to Sonoma for Binney and the second warrant, being without flaw, the comedian was taken out of the state to face his accusers. Being unable to raise bail, originally $5000 but later reduced to $2500, "Josh" was forced to remain in Butte's jail for over two months until his trial last week. The jury, convinced that he misrepresented himself, was charged, brought in a verdict last Saturday of guilty and recommended a prison sentence of from three to six years. Binney is

Lawn Coming Up Nicely On Historic Spot

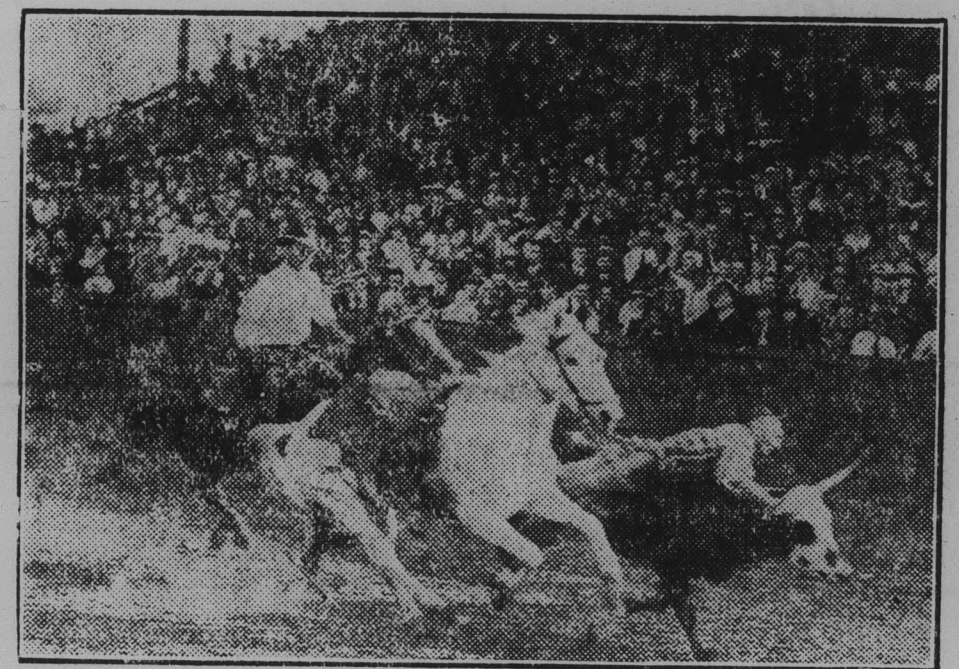

The historic ground in the vicinity of the Bear Flag monument which was planted to lawn by the local Native Sons Parlor, is beginning to show a brilliant green, the young grass growing rapidly this warm weather. A large area has been improved by the Native Sons, whose laudable effort has cost the organization over $1600 to date. A drinking fountain near the Bear Flag emblem, so well frequented by tourists, will also be provided through the generosity of Sonoma's native-born sons of our Golden State.

NORMAN COWAN AND P. GENANT SIGN CONTRACTS

Local Stars Will Give Thrilling Performances At Big Rodeo To Be Held In London.

Norman Cowan, a Sonoma cowboy, and Pete Genant, of the Millerick outfit, will leave soon for London, England, to participate in the great International Cowboy Contest, under the auspices of the British government.

COWAN IN THRILLING STUNT

MRS. EMMA ESHBACH FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Mrs. Emma Eshbach, a resident of Sonoma since the eighties, and a widow of the late Dr. M. Eshbach, pioneer jeweler, watch maker and dentist of California, was found dead in her home on Patton street Sunday morning. Deceased had retired the night previous in her usual health and cheerfully bid friends good night. After church Sunday morning neighbors including Rev. and Mrs. Isaac Cookman were alarmed to see the light burning in the Eshbach home, and no one about. Mrs. Cookman hastily summoned the wife of Rev. Mr. Crowe and together the ladies investigated. Mrs. Eshbach was found dead in bed, her death having occurred evidently without a struggle, from heart trouble, from which she had frequently been a sufferer.

Deceased, a native of Pennsylvania, aged 74 years, was a true type of Christian woman and came from a prominent family of the Eastern state. She leaves sisters and a brother to mourn her. Last year she returned from an extended visit to one of her sisters. Her home, Sonoma, she loved, and recently she expressed the hope to spend her last days here and to die among old friends.

With her husband, Mrs. Eshbach originally settled in Dutch Flat, Cal., later coming to Sonoma Valley where she made many warm friends during her long residence.

The funeral took place Thursday at the M. E. Church, of which deceased was a devoted member. A beautiful tribute was paid her character and memory by Rev. S. E. Crowe, and there was special music by Mrs. Shirley-Weise and Mrs. George Crowe.

circuits and first started his career as a breaker of young colts. Being clever at the game, he took to riding bucking horses and eventually became a star. He has participated in shows all over the United States and was promptly signed up by Tex Austin, who is taking the most daring Western riders to England with him.

Cowan and Genant get all expenses free, including transportation on a special boat, and will get their share of the gate receipts the last day of the $75,000 prize show. Three hundred head of Western stock will be shipped to London and all cowboys and cowgirls will be compelled to furnish their own saddles, bridles, and wear their cowboy outfits at all times.

Cowan resides at Glen Ellen, near the Jack London ranch. He was in the army during the world war, but did not then get the opportunity of going overseas.

ORGANIZE GRANGE HERE ON THURSDAY

George R. Harrison of Sebastopol, Master of the State Grange, and Dr. H. A. Craig, organizer, were here this week arranging preliminaries for the organization of a Grange in Sonoma Valley. Organization will be perfected at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening, May 6th, and ladies and gentlemen will be welcome.

The Grange was among the first institutions to recognize the value of women as members, long before the franchise was dreamed of.

The value of a Grange in Sonoma Valley is conceded by all who know the purposes and accomplishments of the organization throughout the United States. Among its accomplishments

EL VERANO NEWS

By ARCHIBALD McKIVER

A large vote will be cast at the primaries held Tuesday, May 6th. Many of the staunch Democrats will cast their ballot for delegates to go to the New York convention uninstructed. That William McAdoo is not a fit candidate to lead the Democratic ticket can be seen in the opposition to the oil scandal lawyer. McAdoo is also as dry as a Nevada desert. It is to be hoped that the party will head the ticket with Governor Al Smith of New York, who favors the modification of the drastic prohibition amendment. With such a brilliant man as Smith, voters will have a chance to decide whether they are in favor of a wet or dry administration. Citizens of the United States are growing tired of the Volstead law and want the good old days back again. If the people are allowed to express their opinion at the polls in regard to prohibition, the dries will be overwhelmingly defeated, as states voting now show that the wets are leading and will lead until they win back their rights, giving the people the freedom they desire and bringing back at least light wines and beer. A change is going to come, and voters are urged to stay with the candidate who will produce the goods.

L. P. Kearney, lumber merchant, transacted business in San Francisco several days last week.

John Ammann, pioneer El Verano resident, who has been ailing for some time, was removed to a Santa Rosa hospital Tuesday. Mr. Ammann's many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Wilkinson were attending the funeral of a friend at Sacramento Tuesday.

Mrs. W. McAuley and Mrs. E. J. Franquelin were week end visitors to Oakland.

El Verano went dry last Friday, and not since the boom days has it suffered such a drought. Six thousand gallons of water from the S. P. water tank poured down on the railroad tank when a valve broke inside the tank as the freight engine was taking on water. No damage was done to the tank, but a few ties were loosened. S. P. mechanics arrived soon after the deluge and repaired the tank. As it is prohibition time and El Verano is upholding the Volstead Act, many commented on the waste of the strongest drink that this city can afford since the drastic, failing dry law went into effect and put California cities, which progressed in the wet days, back in the class of cow and goat towns. That prohibition is a failure can be seen in the slowness of business in all town and cities of the Golden State.

Miss D. Datti, after a visit with San Francisco relatives, has returned to her cozy El Verano bungalow.

A special train with lumber jacks headed for the wilds of Mendocino county from Eastern States passed through El Verano last week over the Santa Rosa branch.

R. Kuhlmann, our city plumber has returned to his business after taking in the Odd Fellows' convalescence at San Francisco last week. He reports a large crowd and a wonderful time.

Five carloads of sheep and lambs were loaded at the S. P. yards Saturday from the Grace Ranch, consigned to the Western Meat Company, of San Francisco.

Mrs. J. Fleming has been spending several days shopping and visiting in San Francisco.

Charles Champlin, of the Jersey Dairy, appeared in our city Monday with a new Ford delivery car. Mr. Champlin says business is good and he looks for a big milk season this summer.

One day last week in the early morning Charles Champlin was making his milk route through the busy streets of El Verano in his new Jersey milk chariot when a skunk of large proportions got in his way. The fat pole cat seemed anxious to christen the new delivery car, but the brave milk man retreated before the onslaught of Mr. Skunk and reached his customers by a more roundabout way.

While our official fortune teller was taking her beauty sleep one afternoon last week, a lady customer appeared on the scene, asking for the palm reader. A fair damsel standing nearby spoke up "I am the fortune teller," and leading the customer to the tent of mystery, whispered many things concerning past, present and future, after which she collected the usual $1 fee. This was the neophyte's first attempt at lifting the veil, and she was so successful that she is contemplating hanging out her shingle in opposition to the village clairvoyant.

Louis Manry, well known El Verano capitalist, recently purchased the George Warren poultry ranch, near Sonoma, adjoining the General Vallejo home.

Mrs. John Quadrio was visiting her son in Berkeley over the week end.

Mrs. P. Norrbom passed through here Monday morning, enroute to Oakland.

Mrs. K. Murray has been spending several days at the Mrs. Ed Dowdall home in Alameda.

An elimination match of horseshoes is being held here, to pick a candidate to send against the champion, Harry Weise, of Glen Ellen. All day last Sunday horseshoes of all sizes and weights were being hurled through the air at the new Pioneer Garage golf links. Carl Weaver has taken a sudden jump, and is making the other hurlers shake the old arm to score up to his points. Dave Forni, dairyman, was on the green and came out a close second. George Baines, the champ, sees his honors are a toss-up while Al Rossi has thrown his hat in the ring. Al Weaver's eye has come back and he is scoring ringers, while Harry Baines has built himself a private links with several electric lights and is doing his training at night. Ed Dowdall and Bill Preston have come out and hurl a challenge at any aspirant, and they tell the writer it is cheaper to play horseshoes than to pay auto fines in Sonoma. Bill Johnson has been appointed official arbitrator of all games.

Mrs. F. Jensen spent several days visiting in San Francisco.

Mrs. Brand of New York city has been a visitor at the Beach home in Sonoma Vista. The visitor, with her sister, Mrs. Beach, left for San Francisco Monday and will visit with relatives there before returning to the big city on the eastern coast.

Milton Peterson, L. Douglas and parties from Petaluma formed a motor picnic to Calistoga last Sunday, reporting a good time.

M. Cusick, S. P. freight conductor on the Santa Rosa-Suisun branch, returned to his duties Sunday after having undergone an operation for appendicitis at the S. P. hospital in San Francisco.

Saturday morning Fred Hansen dispatched 2000 baby chicks from the famous Sonoma Valley Hatchery at Sonoma, by express and parcel post over the S. P. lines, consigned to various poultry ranches throughout the state. The little chicks made things lively around the S. P. depot and also kept George Colgan, express messenger, happy by their singing on the way to South Vallejo.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Republicans of California, on May 6th you will cast your vote for the delegates of the Presidential primaries. Vote for the candidates preferring Calvin Coolidge. Your vote for Coolidge spells prosperity to the nation and recognition of California. All over the United States of America the primary vote has shown the confidence in our present executive.

BOYES SPRINGS SHOULD HAVE STATION

The people of Boyes Springs and traveling public in general are anxious that a new depot should be built at Boyes to replace the one destroyed by fire. The Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company evinced considerable interest immediately following the disaster which destroyed their property together with many homes and business places of the thriving center but as yet plans seem indefinite as to the building of their depot.

With the present season already well advanced, Sonoma Valley would like to see work start, as the Northwestern Pacific station is the nucleus of the settlement and puts Boyes Springs not only on the map, but tends to concentrate interest all about it.

CHARLEY CHAPLIN TAKES SUMMIT BY STORM

Charley Chaplin and his big moving picture company including 600 extras arrived at Summit in the high Sierras last week and are filming a Klondike gold rush story there. Summit is supposed to be Chilcoot Pass of Alaska and was selected as the locale in competition with Alaska and Idaho on account of its snow and rugged cliffs. A big camp has been put up at Summit by the moving picture people and things are lively in the vicinity of the big hotel, run by Joe Andrieux and Fred Batto, well known Sonoma folks.

The S. P. company sent 600 shopmen from Sacramento to participate in one scene of Chaplin's comedy. They took the part of "sourdoughs" in the play.

The regular monthly whist party and dance of the Sonoma Vista Improvement Club will be held at the club house tonight, May 3rd. Refreshments will be served during the evening and a cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to spend a pleasant evening.

VINEBURG ITEMS

Julius Unger, well known throughout Sonoma Valley, who has been residing with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Bacher at Lehigh Grove for some time, departed for the city Sunday to prepare for his annual trip to Alaska for the coming salmon season. Unger holds the position of chief fireman for the Alaska Packing Company and this will be his 25th consecutive year in northern waters.

Mrs. J. H. Coops returned home on Monday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berger at Oildale. Mrs. Coops reports that Mrs. Berger, who has been quite ill for some time, is improving.

Joseph Bacher of San Francisco was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Bacher on last Sunday.

Louis Martin, one of our progressive citizens, was transacting business in San Francisco Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Batto and family returned home Monday after enjoying a delightful trip to the Summit.

A popular social Adonis of Sonoma was exchanging May Day greetings with his friends in this vicinity last Thursday and told Minnie Madden he was looking for talent among the fair sex to produce a moving picture entitled "Sunshine and Moonlight" and asked her opinion about it. Minnie told him she thought if he changed the name of the picture to "Moonshine and Lightning" it would draw bigger crowds.

St. Barbara's Guild will meet next Tuesday, May 6th at the home of Mrs. Frank Morton in Napa.

said to have suffered a collapse following the hearing of the verdict.

The moving picture man came to Sonoma last fall upon being advised that local people were seeking a photo play studio as an industry which they believed adaptable to the defunct Coney Island location. Binney gave excellent references, looked the part of the successful promoter, asked for no local capital, exhibited correspondence with purported purchasers of his comedies, and agreed to make his pictures here. He was given every assistance by Sonoma Valley's leading progressive citizens, who believed he was acting in good faith and that his reason for being interested here was the small overhead under which his company could operate.

The bad check incident, which first aroused suspicion here, was overlooked as a possible mistake, but when Binney sought to organize a local film company and interest Sonoma capital therein, investigation of his activities prior to his coming here were launched. The Index-Tribune investigated him and was among the first to receive wires and letters unfavorable to Binney's record. These reports were immediately communicated to the men pledged to organize a company for the filming of Binney's plays, but they remained loyal to him, notwithstanding and the company was incorporated.

Shortly thereafter, Binney's arrest on the Montana warrant followed. His first Sonoma comedy, "The Account of a No-Account Count," was completed here, and attachments covering this two reel picture, is now the sole asset of the corporation. A permit to sell stock in the Sonoma Photo Play Corporation was never granted and persons outside of the officers and directors of the company who put up money for stock, had it refunded by the Sonoma Valley men interested in the project.

Tacks

Tacks, like some people, have their fine points, but are of little use until somebody hits them on the head.

What we wish to drive in is the importance of saving; having a bank account. It may require the giving up of certain pleasures just now, but is bound to make future pleasures and happiness the greater.

The young man who aspires to do things must early learn to do without things. Remember this.

are the following:

- The establishment of agriculture colleges and state experiment stations.
- Creation of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.
- Establishment of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the interest of just transportation rulings.
- Equalization of the tax burden.
- Pure food laws.
- Protection to the public on patent rights.

A more recent victory of the Grange and one of its grandest achievements is the establishment of rural mail delivery and parcels post in all sections of the country. The Grange was the first organization to publicly proclaim that if it was right for the government to carry mail to the home of people in the cities, it would be right for it to carry mail to the homes of people in the country, and through the discussion of the question and intelligent presentation of the matter to congress, appropriations were secured; first for experiment, and then for permanent establishment of the system of rural mail delivery. This breaks up the isolation of farm life, tends to secure better roads, and advances farm values wherever it extends. The results in this matter alone will justify the entire cost of the Grange from its establishment to the present time.

MRS. LONDON GIVEN PUBLICITY ABROAD

The following clippings from the London Graphic and other European papers reveal a wealth of publicity accorded Mrs. Charmian London, widow of the late author, Jack London, of our own Valley of the Moon. Mrs. London recently returned to Glen Ellen from her unique sea trip to Europe and a wonderfully interesting visit among the big followers of the author of "The Sea Wolf," "John Barleycorn," and other literary masterpieces of the California celebrity.

*These dealers sell

The dealers listed here protect their customers by selling Red Crown gasoline, which because of the exacting production standards maintained by this Company, is uniformly reliable always and everywhere.

Protect your car by patronizing the dealers who protect you. You'll never have to drive very far to find a red, white and blue Red Crown sign, and your car will run better and farther if you let nothing go into your fuel tank except clean, reliable "Red Crown." Quick on the start, prompt on the pick-up, economical on the long run—"Red Crown" has all the qualities you demand of a motor fuel, and has them uniformly.

Incidentally, it's worth reflecting that the garage man, service station, or other dealer who refuses to let his customers take chances with inferior or unknown motor fuels, is likely to be equally responsible and reliable if your car needs inspection or repairs.

Look for the Red Crown disc and the red, white and blue pump—the two signs that identify a reliable dealer.

Mrs. London's own literary work continues to attract decided attention, as it is becoming better known throughout the continents.

"Mrs. Charmian London, the widow of Jack London, the American novelist and herself the author of several books, including the biography of her husband, slipped into London the other week, put up at a quiet hotel in Belgravia, and proceeded to resume acquaintance with a London that she had not seen since girlhood. She is a merry, sparkling, beautifully dressed little lady, proud of her English descent with a touch of Spanish blood and warmly sympathetic to us. The manner of her coming was characteristic of the Jack London tradition.

"It was classic," she put it. "I had been the only woman on so many adventures, you see. Take a voyage around Cape Horn on a four masted barque, the Dirigo, an old steel windjammer, that we—meaning Jack London and herself—chose because she carried topsails, for we wanted all the features available of the old. 'Cape Stiff' clipper service famed in history. It took us 148 days, that voyage. Then there was the traverse of 43 days from Australia to Ecuador, in an Andrew Weir collier, the Tymeric. That was when we returned from our two-years' adventure in the 45 foot ketch Snark through the South Seas. Perhaps you know my 'Voyaging In Wild Seas,' the log of the Snark? The Germans got nearly every ship I have sailed in, including the Dirigo and the Tymeric. And so, when I discovered that I was to be the only passenger on this Swedish motor ship of about 6000 tons, I was dumb with surprise. It was classic!

"Of course, I went all over the San Francisco, once and by permission, from stem to stern, bridge to keel. The Swedish chief engineer, an amiable, blond giant, piloted me gallantly into the depths and acquainted me with the marvelous Diesel machinery. His Mona Lisa smile broadened a trifle when I said it all looked like an automobile factory. I visited with the steward his domain—lazaretto, the ice box, and the rest. I spent an hour on the rail in the eyes of the ship, once more plumbing the deep blue water with my sight, as the bow turned back the glossy furrows. The Sargosso Sea was flung over with saffron rugs of fine seaweed that resembled in one's hand a delicate mistletoe—sea mistletoe. A little came aboard on the log line.

"Otherwise the captain gave me a good character for docility and for strict adherence to the boat deck, with its gleaming boats in their davits and the blue throated white ventrals like mammoth lilies against the blue sky.

"Christmas was spent in the Caribbean with a healthy head-sea and wind. Christmas eve saw fiddles on the cabin table for the only time on the voyage. Then, as well as on New Year's Eve, according to Swedish custom, wassail was drunk on deck by captain and officers, chief engineer and assistants, and the same company met at dinner in the cabin. New Year's Eve was in the Sargosso Sea and we saw the New Year in at the stroke of midnight, to as much noise as a sturdy throated siren, all the bells of the ship, and an assortment of rockets, aided by our combined shouts could produce. And I was the only woman, most of the time watching and listening, as at table, while these well mannered men, a bit shy at first, thawed and talked with one another and the captain.

"I worked hard on the trip, as I've said, writing a new book about the Hawaiian slands, and I understand it will appear next autumn. It will include three articles by Jack London, never before book published, entitled 'My Hawaiian Aloha.' I do not plan any further writing while I am in Europe this year. It is only to be a playtime for me, after many years of work. It is a happiness for me to be again in London. What I feel for the English is a sort of racial passion. Many years ago I came, and named it my favorite city of the world. Since though I have dreamed of returning, my travels have been in quite the other direction. Today I wandered alone along Victoria Street to Westminster Abbey, to touch the cobwebs of my own past. Now I truly feel that I am in London.

"I go to Pau for the hunting," added Mrs. Charmian London, who is one of the finest horsewomen in California, and that is saying something, and I expect to motor through Spain. I want to return to England for April and then go across to Denmark and Sweden, where Jack London is greatly beloved, and where my own books have been translated. Perhaps I will spend next autumn in London. Jack's writings are now being done into French as fast as possible, and a great

"No, I was not seasick. The voyage was an unmitigated pleasure—except that I was overworked, getting a new Hawaii book ready for publication here in England. Oh, yes, it was good to be at sea once more. I do not care for liners. Why not as well spend the time in a good hotel? One is not at sea, not at all a part of the sea. In a smaller ship one's imagination has greater scope. This motor ship was 380 feet long, Diesel engines, of course. No smoke, no soot, and the 100 foot boat deck as spick and span as a yacht. And her pleasant name was San Francisco. My accommodations were roomy and elegant, and the captain was an interesting person with a whole library of good books aboard. The voyage consumed 40 days, San Francisco to Havre through the Panama Canal. I saw old Panama again with mingled emotions—we came home that way once from South America. I finally landed in Hull, having had two days to visit Rouen, and thus, coming on to London by train, I was not far from where my first paternal ancestor departed for America—East Suffolk, near Lowestoft—somewhere around 1660.

"In my absence, also when I am at home, Mrs. Eliza Shepard, my husband's sister, administers the ranch and all my affairs.

"I have been asked as to what my own next book will be. I think it will be a novel."

demand for them in that language has developed since the war. My biography of Jack is also being translated for a French edition. I am visiting Paris our dear friend, Mrs. William English Walling, the Anna Strunsky who collaborated with Jack London in "The Kempton-Wace Letters," which you will remember."

In a further interview, Mrs. London gave California some nice publicity, as follows:

"I still make my home in California upon the Jack London ranch. It covers 1400 acres of most beautiful mountain land. About one-third is under cultivation. The demesne is bounded by deep ravines containing mountain streams, and the land not under cultivation is wooded with all kinds of western rees. There are miles of mountain trails which can be traversed on horseback and much beautiful mountainous country adjoining the ranch where one may ride. Jack London made of his place what might almost be termed an agricultural experiment. He imported draft horses, in order to breed only the best; he terraced the fields on a large scale in a scientific manner; he invested in the best breed of beef cattle, as well as milk cattle. There are also grapes on the ranch, as it was once a large grape producing property, bearing a winery.

"In my absence, also when I am at home, Mrs. Eliza Shepard, my husband's sister, administers the ranch and all my affairs.

CITIZENS' MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

Major E. Barker, a retired Army officer and resident of Sonoma, making his home at the El Dorado Hotel, has been asked by the Major-General in command of the Ninth Corps, to give out information as to the citizens' military training camps. He has asked the Index-Tribune to give the information contained in the letter to him, publicity. The letter follows:

"By direction of Major General Charles G. Morton commanding the Ninth Corps Area, there is sent you herewith a circular of information and an application blank. These items are furnished primarily to aid you in securing applicants for the citizens' training camps.

"There will be two of these camps—one for approximately 1000 at Del Monte for infantry, field artillery, cavalry, engineers and signal corps, and one for about 50 at Fort Winfield Scott, San Francisco, for coast artillery students. The general limits for age run from 17 to 24.

"In previous years there has been given very important aid in this recruitment for the camps by retired officers. It was recognized that their residence afforded them a chance to send their own sons to these free camps, and also gave them an opportunity to present the values and desirability of the camps to their civilian acquaintances. The Del Monte camp will be particularly attractive to young men on account of its splendid location and superior equipment. Army officers' sons make highly desirable students and almost without exception have reflected great credit to the service. They take high places and are actually important aides in discipline and instruction. Inasmuch as they will, for the most part, make their permanent homes in California, the camps afford a fine opportunity for them to acquire an extended acquaintance among their future fellow citizens of the state.

"These headquarters bespeak your active assistance in obtaining applications, and will especially welcome applications from members of your own family. To this end, while public or private endorsement of the object of the camps is highly desirable, it is even more to be desired that officers actually secure applications. All applications secured should be sent to these headquarters, and any request for additional blanks or information to the same place.

"It should be emphasized that enrollment and attendance at the camps constitute in no sense any obligation to enlist in the United States Army.

Early application is important, in order that those candidates selected may be promptly advised of their opportunity.

"ERNESTE V. SMITH,
"Chief of Staff."

MEET TO FORM VALLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A meeting of the district organization embracing the territory from Glen Ellen to Schellville was called to order Monday, April 28th, at the Sonoma Valley Improvement Club house, Fetters Springs, with Vice President J. P. Serres in the chair. Minutes of a former meeting were read and approved. R. L. Watt of Schellville spoke of organization as a means of furthering the interests and welfare of the valley and brought before the attention of the members the highway matters, suggesting the secretary write to Harvey M. Toy, for certain information. George Cassidy concurred and made a plea for valley co-operation through a Chamber of Commerce properly managed. Jack Main also urged forming a Chamber of Commerce. Judge Justi advocated the proposition and moved that a meeting be called for Monday, May 12th, at 8 p.m., at the Sonoma Valley Improvement Club, Fetters Springs, at which time the proposition will be thoroughly discussed, while Chairman Serres will obtain all information possible regarding old chambers with a view to taking them over. After a few interesting remarks by S. Rosenthal, F. Metschau, J. Mueller, J. W. Minges and Chairman Serres the meeting adjourned to May 12, the meeting on that date being open to all, and all are invited to attend.

CLUB REPORTER.

JUDGE SPECHT RESIGNS

Monday Judge R. C. Specht resigned his office as city recorder. He gave as his reason that he was unable to do justice to this office and attend properly to his business as city engineer, the activities of Traffic Officer Eberhardt having taken up too much of his time of late.

A special meeting of the city trustees was called by Mayor Bulotti to consider the resignation, which was accepted, and Judge Lester Small was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Specht. The new recorder has already taken the oath of office and is authorized to hear all complaints against those that break the laws of Sonoma.
